Live Session 4

Dear Students,

Here are the responses to your questions from Live Session 4.

Student Questions and Responses

1. SOHAM & K.Sowgandh Bharadwaj

Question: "there is assignment test showing in w4 what is that and what we have to do??" and "but on what topic should we need to need to do the assignment, i mean any particular question or any particular concept"

Response: There is no assignment scheduled for Week 4. Please ignore the assignment test showing in Week 4 on the portal. According to the updated handout, there is only one assignment planned for the entire course, which will be conducted during Week 10. Kindly refer to Week 0 under 'Evaluation Components' for the complete grading structure and schedule.

2. SOHAM

Question: "can you please share us the info about how we are going to be graded like whats the percentage of every test assignment lab and all because its little confusing and also is it necessary to participate in open peer discussions? are we getting graded for that??"

Response: Complete details about the grading structure and evaluation components are available in Week 0 under 'Evaluation Components'. This section provides a comprehensive breakdown of all evaluation methods, including their respective weightages.

Regarding open peer discussions: while participation in discussions is not mandatory for grading, it is strongly encouraged. Engaging in discussions helps you clarify concepts, learn from your peers, and deepen your understanding of the course material. Active participation can also enhance your overall learning experience.
